

Martin felt this promise was important to keep, so he became a Monk. A Monk is a person who spends their whole life trying to please God. Martin spent a lot of time trying to do good things, but he always felt like he could never be good enough to please God.